

I wish to express my opposition to loosening the regulations concerning media consolidation. Diversity is what keeps the media honest. If only one or two large entities own the majority of media outlets the public can spoon fed only the information that company deems important.

I would like to see continued competition in all local markets. Not one all-powerful media giant that determines what I will and will not see.